

TECH ARTICLE

Date: 13/11/2007

Revision Date (6 months max): N/A

Topic / Issue: Driver Signing issues with unattended installations

Written By: Scott Young

Please follow the steps below to allow unsigned drivers to be installed automatically when performing an unattended installation using Microsoft Windows 2000/XP.

If the OEM-supplied drivers are not digitally signed, you receive a warning message about this during Setup.

To allow the unattended installation to complete without user input, add the following entry to the [Unattended] section of the Setup answer file (Unattend.txt):

DriverSigningPolicy = Ignore

Summary:
(If required)